

WHAT IS THE FAIR HOUSING PROJECT?

Fair housing is the right to choose housing free from unlawful discrimination. Under the federal Fair Housing Act, it's unlawful for a housing provider to discriminate against anyone due to their race, color, national origin, religion, sex, disability and familial status (i.e., households with children or women who are pregnant).

Illinois fair housing laws provide additional protection against discrimination on the basis of ancestry, age, military or military discharge status, marital status, protective order status, sexual orientation or gender identity, pregnancy or reproductive health choices, arrest record, source of income and immigration status. Local ordinances in your city or county may provide additional protections.

WHO MUST PROVIDE FAIR HOUSING?

- Building owners, landlords and management companies
- Public housing authorities and government agencies
- Real estate agents and home sellers
- Appraisers, mortgage brokers, banks or other lending institutions
- Insurance companies

EXAMPLES OF HOUSING DISCRIMINATION

Housing discrimination can take many forms and it is not always obvious. For example, it may be unlawful where a housing provider:

- Rents only to English speakers
- Advertises in a way that favors one group over another
- Threatens or intimidates or retaliates against you because you complained of housing discrimination
- Refuses to let you build a wheelchair ramp or denies other reasonable accommodations or modifications
- Steers you to a neighborhood where "you would be more comfortable"
- Does not allow emotional support animals or allows only service dogs
- Denies mortgage loans in certain neighborhoods, charges higher rates, or fails to provide loan information
- Falsely states the apartment is not available
- Refuses to rent to you believing your children will be too noisy
- Allows harassment of tenants who are transgender or gay
- Refuses to rent to you because of a past arrest record
- Sexually harasses you or evicts you after you complain of sexual harassment
- Tries to evict you because you secured an order of protection as a survivor of domestic violence
- Targets you for a foreclosure rescue scheme because of the color of your skin
- Appraises your home (during a refinance) for less than similar homes near you because of your race
- Refuses to accept your Housing Choice Voucher
